A Letter From The Rabbi

RE-EXPERIENCING MT. SINAI AT SINAI SYNAGOGUE

Sunday evening, June 8th, through Tuesday evening, June 10th, marks the holiday of Shavuot. In commemoration of Israel's hearing the Ten Commandments on Shavuot, our Sinai community has celebrated the tradition of studying Torah late into the first night of the holiday. We plan to continue that tradition for the seventh year in a row on that Sunday evening. Marilyn and I look forward to welcoming you to our home, (2465 Belvoir Blvd., University Heights), on Sunday evening (actually, it will already be Monday morning!) at 12:15 AM. The study session will last about an hour, and plenty of refreshments – including caffeinated and decaffeinated coffees and teas – will be available. Please join us for an exciting hour of friendship and Torah learning. Your presence will enhance the experience.

Monday morning, services will commence at 9:30, a half-hour later than usual. Mitch Rose will be reading the Ten Commandments at about 10:15, and davening, as always, will be followed by a celebratory Kiddush.

Tuesday at services we will read the Book of Ruth, (like Ruth, all of Israel converted to Torah observance at Mt. Sinai) and recite Yizkor (no earlier than 10:15).

Not to speak of sermons - one each day - as inspiring and enjoyable as they are brief!

Have a wonderful Shavuot holiday!

Sincerely,

Moshe Berger
